TAX RATE JUMPS $7.00

The Andover tax rate of $36.00 was approved by the Commissioner of Corporations and Taxations, Henry F. Long, on Tuesday, June 18. An increase of $7.00 over last year's rate, in line with the assessor's prediction at the annual town meeting, is due largely to an increase in the number and rate of wages of public employees, both fully justified, and to the purchase of equipment that was not available during the war years. Also, with the removal of the American Woolen office building from the taxable list created a loss of over $200,000 and the assessors have based the rate on an increased total valuation, real and personal, of about $55,000.

The relationship between the two years is as follows: appropriations, county and state tax and overlay—$1,088,024.28 for 1946, $901,603.17 for 1945; estimated receipts and available funds — $484,532.08 for 1946, $415,622.64 for 1945; to be raised by taxation—polls: 4108 @ $2.00, $8,216.00 for 1946; 4024 @ $2.00, $8,048.00 for 1945; personal property: $2,245,495.00 @ $36.00, $80,837.82 for 1946; $2,116,720 @ $29.00, $61,384.88 for 1945; real estate: $14,289,955.00 @ $36.00, $514,438.38 for 1946; $14,363,712.00 @ $29.00, $416,547.65 for 1945; sum total for 1946, $1,088,024.28; and for 1945, $901,603.17.

These comparisons show that the town expenditures increased over $186,000 in a single year, reaching a new high in departmental spending.

MARINE VETERAN ELECTED JANITOR

Alexander Campbell, 23, recently discharged from the Marine Corps after serving four years, was elected as the janitor of the Shawsheen school at a salary of $1900 at the special school committee meeting held on Tuesday evening. He will start his duties immediately, due to the resignation of the former janitor.

A new program of sick leave for the janitors was adopted at the meeting, similar to what the teachers now have. Any janitor who has been in the employ of the school department less than five years is allowed two weeks personal illness, with pay. After that, they will receive what is called "cumulative sick leave," a day being added for each year of service.

Making his debut in the political field, Philip K. Allen, Highland road, received 1514 out of a possible 1826 votes in Andover in his Primary State Senatorial race against Clifford R. Cusson of Haverhill. This was more votes than the town gave any other single candidate. His total vote from the 4th Essex District was 3922, as against his opponent's 2562. Inasmuch as the two Republican candidates were unopposed by the Democrats, Mr. Allen has nothing

J. EVERETT COLLINS

WHERE ARE WE?

1826 Andover voters made their way to the polls on Tuesday, but 4757 stayed at home in spite of the fact that two of the contested candidates were townspeople. The Republican vote of 1646 compared very favorably to 1944's vote of 1267, but the Democrat vote dropped from 191 in the last primary to 180. However, considering the number of returned service men and women since 1944, the increase in the total vote does not indicate the interest warranted by the fact that the primary vote was the decisive factor in the election of State Senator and Representatives.

Going back to 1940, the Democrat vote was over 300, while the Republican vote was in the 1400's, which doesn't seem to prove much of anything except that Andover takes the privileges of a democracy too lightly. If the citizens don't care, then who?

more to worry about. The job is his.

J. Everett Collins did it again. Receiving 1504 votes in Andover, he picked up another 1500 plus in Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover, so that his total vote of 3100 in the race for Representative of the 4th Essex District was outnumbered only by Raymond W. Schlapp's lucky four threes. Mr. Schlapp is an Andover product, too, having lived here 17 years, and his town vote was 1056. Frank S. Giles also placed with a total of 2704 in the district, of which 775 were from Andover. Chester Woekel was runner up with a good score of 2548.

Archie N. Frost, Republican candidate for re-election to office of Clerk of Courts, is also an Andover man, and received the town's endorsement of 1447 votes. The State vote seconded the motion.

Historical Inaccuracy

I have become especially interested in the beginning of Andover. An element of misunderstanding and misstatement came into the story. The first history of Andover was not published until one hundred and eighty three years after its incorporation. When Abiel Abbot quoted from the records of the General Court and from Governor Winthrop's Journal, saying that the people of Newton (Cambridge), feeling too cramped for land there, "sent men to Agawan (Ipswich) and Merrimack" to see whether either locality would be a suitable place to which to remove, he assumed that (Merrimack) meant the region of Andover, the Indian Cochichawick. All the later writers, except one, followed Abbot's precedent. This was a mistaken inference. The proof is clear and convincing. William Wood in his small but valuable book, "New England's Prospects," published in London in 1634, states the locality of Merrimack clearly and definitely. He took his manuscript with him on his return to England in August, 1633. Near the close of chapter of part one, he says,

"Agowanne is nine miles to the North from Salem, which is one of the most spacious places for a plantation, being neare, the sea, it aboundeth with fish, and flesh of fowles and beasts, great Meads and Marshes and plaine plowing grounds, many good rivers and harbours and no rattle snakes. In a word, it is the best place but one, which is Merrimacke, lying eight miles beyond it, where is a river 20 leagues navigable, all along the river side is fresh Marshes, in some places 3 miles broad. In this river is Sturgeon, Sammon, and Basse, and divers other kind of fish."

The correctness of his statement cannot be doubted. Probably Wood's book was not known to Abbot or the later writers. By a good chance I read his book several months ago. No new history of Andover should repeat the old misunderstanding.

improved telephone service

Right up in the forefront of the new techniques and many scientific developments to make farming more productive and more profitable are the plans for improving the quality of farm telephone service in New England.

Although our rural expansion and improvement program was interrupted by war, we are once again pushing ahead on it. Already, a half mile, rather than a quarter mile of pole line fixtures and circuit is being furnished without charge. We plan to bring to New England rural areas such benefits as dial service and the reduction of the number of subscribers on any rural line (eventually there will be not more than eight).

By means of technical developments and improved methods such as these, the telephone will be helping out on an ever larger number of important farm jobs in New England in the days ahead.

VACATION DAYS ARE HERE!

PARADE IN MINIATURE

When a parade is planned weeks in advance, it often happens that clouds show up for the event, too, so a sensible solution to the problem is to wait until a bright day dawns and then put on a parade, ad lib, impromptu, or on the spur of the moment, so to speak. That was the deduction that Dottie Dunn of Sutherland street made last Sunday, and she rounded up the children in the Shawsheen neighborhood to participate.

Using the Tercentenary parade as their model, the young people knew exactly how to go about their preparations. All morning was spent hunting down costumes, bedecking and heribboning everything locomotive in their possession. Bicycles took on new shape and color, dump carts became magnificent floats, and three-year-olds "put away childhood things" to become glamorous, grown-up women.

By afternoon everything was set, and the residents of Sutherland street and vicinity were turned out on the sidewalks to watch the toy parade pass by. Twirling a baton and sporting band costume, Dottie Dunn led the march. John Lowe, pedaling a decorated bike, towed a magnificent float in the midst of which a huge doll sat in queenly splendor. Alice Jo Mooney was the queen of a second float, and some of the other participants were Beverly Barlow, Walter Mooney, Barbara and Arline King and Betsy Caswell.

It was a perfect day for a parade!

A-Picnicking

The annual picnic of the South church and Sunday School was held Saturday afternoon on the church grounds. A general program of games was held under the direction of Preston Blake, and Constance Cole was in charge of games for the young children. Prizes were awarded.

A picnic supper was held in the early evening, with Winston Blake as chairman. General chairman of the affair was Harold N. Wood, with Thaxter Eaton in charge of prizes.

Bible School

A daily vacation Bible school will be held during the month of July, it was announced recently by the Andover Council of Churches. It will commence on July 8, and run for two weeks.

Brownies Have Active Year

The Brownie Scout troop sponsored by the Central Parent Teachers Association has completed its third year. It has consisted of three troops, with a membership of 35. They have had a very active and varied program under the splendid guidance of the leaders, Mrs. Franklin Bigelow, Mrs. Martha Howe, and Mrs. L. P. Wilson, and help of committee-women Mrs. Samuel Resnik and Mrs. Arthur Smith.

A few of their activities consisted of book talks, handwork, gathering clothing, knitting an afghan for the Red Cross and stuffing envelopes for the Red Cross Drive. They also bought a book from their penny treasury to send to the Danish children.

The year started with two active Girl Scout troops, with Miss Betty Buler and Mrs. Irene Dantos as leaders. The latter was forced to resign, however, leaving only one troop.

There is such keen interest among the girls for troops that the need for new leaders is very great. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Franklin Bigelow of Salem street.

To Present the Mikado

August 12, 14 and 16 are the dates set for the presentation of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "The Mikado," in the Opera Garden in Andover.

Rehearsals will begin at the Garden Tuesday evening, June 25, at 8:00 p. m., with many veterans of past performances home from the services to take the leading parts. There will be, however, opportunities for new voices in the cast as well as in the chorus, and players are also needed for the orchestra. For additional information contact Horace Killam, telephone 1688-M, who is directing the operetta.

Norman E. Priest of Groveland is the business manager, Merrill Berry of Bradford will be the pianist, and Warren Priest of Haverhill will take the part of Pooh Bah. All three have been associated with the Opera Garden in past years.

Calling All V.F.W.'s

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold their State Convention in Lawrence on Sunday, June 23, and it will include a big parade, with members of the local Post No. 2128 taking part. A big affair is planned, and it will be the first peacetime convention since World War II. According to Adjutant Thomas P. Eldred, all veterans of World Wars

I and II and men still in service are welcome to join the V. F. W. in their triumphant march in Lawrence.

At North Shore

After four years of wartime restrictions, the North Shore Players will open their summer season at the Beverly High school auditorium, July 1.

Blake Johnson, managing editor of the North Shore Players, announced that he was successful in obtaining Francis Lederer and Bramwell Fletcher to open the nine-weeks' season, in the mystery show, "Angel Street," Patrick Hamilton's melodrama of London's gaslight era.

"Angel Street" has just completed a sensational three-year run in New York and was one of the few shows that the New York dramatic critics unanimously acclaimed as "entertainment in the full sense of the word."

Francis Lederer, who was featured in the latest Paulette Goddard picture, "Diary of a Chambermaid," has played an extraordinarily wide variety of roles. Before starting his cinematic career in Hollywood in 1934, Mr. Lederer won the praise of audiences in the capitals of Europe as a star in a sequence of hit plays in Austria, Hungary, England and in his native Czechoslovakia.

One of his most successful stage roles in America was in "No Time for Comedy," with Katherine Cornell.

Bramwell Fletcher, who will co-star in "Angel Street," gained Hollywood distinction for his splendid performance in "Random Harvest," with Greer Garson and Ronald Colman.

During the past winter, Mr. Fletcher appeared with his wife, Diana Barrymore, in the stage production of "Rebecca."

In the weeks following the presentation of "Angel Street," the theatre-lovers of the North Shore are assured of the finest in stage productions, with such brilliant stars as Ruth Chatterton, Jane Cowl, Edward Everett Horton, Dennis King, Roddy McDowell, Zachary Scott and the stage's most lovable personality, Dame May Whitty.

Something To Crow About

An exhibition of etchings and charcoal studies by the famous W. H. W. Bicknell being shown at Fieldstones will be held over another ten days because of the extreme interest that has been shown by residents of Andover and neighboring towns.

Dean of American etchers, the 86-year-old artist is a resident of Winchester and Provincetown, and has often lectured at the academy. His versatility is readily recognized in the display of his works against the charming colonial atmosphere of Fieldstones, and arrangements may be made for the purchase of any of his subjects being shown.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held in the vacant store in the old Smith and Manning block, 8 Essex street on Friday, sponsored by the Court of St. Monica. A little of this and a little of that will be sold at bargain prices, and perhaps that certain something you've been looking for may be included in the wares—who knows?

Editorial...

IN WITH THE NEW —

It's a very refreshing feeling one gets out of scanning the election returns for State Senator. It's nice to know, for instance, that people do govern themselves by an office-holder's performance or lack of performance while in office; it proves to those who have been elected that they are there on probation, that they have to do their job well or the voters will fire them.

But it's even more nice to know that the voters will support a young newcomer in the political field. Phil Allen is in his middle thirties, neither too young or too old. We need more people of his age in our public life, but too often they're not given a chance. We were a little interested in this connection in analyzing the ages of the town's tercentenary committee of 15, and we found that the average age was 60, the oldest being 77 and the youngest 43. There are young men and young women in the thirty and late twenty region who have ideas, too, and while the committee did a grand job in the short time available, there were many who thought that there was too great a tendency to celebrate as we celebrated fifty years ago.

Phil's victory gives us hope that a change will be made in the Republican town committee, for here again there's a very definite need for the injection of young blood. It's what the voters want, everywhere. They're tired of stand-patism; they want new vigor in their party. They want the determination and the energy that Phil and his friends put into their campaign. They don't like the policy of just sitting back and waiting until the Democrats make so many mistakes that the people will vote for almost anyone else. They want a positive program, a platform that isn't just criticizing the other party, a platform that tackles the country's problems courageously and squarely. They want a party that will go after the votes instead of a party that just waits for the votes to come.

The pity of it is that the town committee will not be elected until the next primary two years hence. The present committee will remain until that time, but we need a young, active committee well before primaries so that they can do their part toward seeing that the Republican ballot has some good candidates in every position. Probably many members of the town committee would just as soon step aside now and let younger men and women be appointed, for often serving on committees like this just becomes a habit. If there are any so inclined, it would be well if they would take the step now, for it's not one moment too soon to start the ball rolling for complete Republican victory in 1948.

A Job Well Done

The 300th anniversary committee and the selectmen wish to extend their sincere thanks to the hundreds or even thousands of Andover citizens and friends who made the recent celebration so well worth while. Very few realize the huge amount of work and preparation that was carried out so quietly and efficiently by each of the many groups that took part. It is impossible to single out individuals or organizations, and we cannot thank each person separately. Will you please accept this notice as a token of the grateful appreciation of the town for the fine work done by so very many of you?

Very truly yours,

300th Anniversary Committee,
Dr. Claude M. Fuess, Chairman.

At The Library...

PLANNING TO TRAVEL?

Travel books are on exhibit in the main reading room. The printed inducement to take to the road has been tapped for this exhibit, and it is hoped that those who yearn to travel this summer will find inspiration and help from the displays. Special emphasis has been laid on material dealing with our near-by neighbors, the Canadians and the Mexicans. Nor have the charms of our own states been neglected. Any material exhibited may be borrowed for home use.

Here are a few of this month's new books at the library:

No Place for Women

A tropical romance with a large helping of intrigue and trouble for the two agents who try to obtain the New Dixie Rubber plantation in South America for the United States Rubber Division.

Horizon

A short novel set in the South Tyrol, in which an escaped prisoner finds his long months of waiting in hiding are not wasted, but of intense value to the advancing Allies.

Then and Now

Set in the period of 1500, with a background of political intrigue involving Machiavelli and the Duke of Valentinois.

For One Sweet Grape

A story of love in Spain at the time of Philip II, more interesting as a character study, perhaps, than in the development of its plot.

In the Name of Sanity

"Against the background of the political developments, the author traces the story of the atomic bomb, from Dr. Einstein's letter to President Roosevelt, through the establishment of the National Research Defense Committee, the statement of the Oak Ridge scientists, the May-Johnson bill, to the decisions of the Moscow conference of foreign ministers — down to the present."

Great Fishing Stories

Short fishing stories by well-known authors—Hemingway, Van Dyke, Wylie, Grey, Stockton, etc.

Dangerous Honeymoon

Every bit as thrilling as his previous book, "The Shape of Danger," Kielland packs war, espionage, pursuit and thrills in this new book—well done.

Those of the Way

Dean Sperry of Harvard Divinity School prepared this originally for Lenten reading, but the book will be of constant value for those who are seeking "The Way."

Breaking the Building Blockade

It is the author's contention that only when the American people demand it will there be better housing. Here are the facts and a definite plan for adequate housing provisions. The author, editor of the Chicago Sun, has been studying his subject for years, and now outlines a unified National program. It is not a visionary piece of work, but a solid plan.

America's Germany: An Account of the Occupation

The question, "How can our High Schools better train young people to meet the new problems of tomorrow?" is the main reason for the existence of this book, as the author, a former High School teacher, tries to find some workable answer.

On This Star

The author of "A Little Lower Than the Angels" has a second book dealing with Mormonism, this time set in modern times and built upon the old-fashioned triangle theme.

The Unforeseen

The thrilling story of a woman who is gifted with second sight and the frightening experiences it inevitably brings.

Without Bitterness

Prince Orizu, leader of one of the strongest and most advanced kingdoms of Nigeria, outlines the problems that will come out of Africa with the ending of the war. A graduate of Ohio State University and Columbia, Orizu has founded the African Students' Association of the United States and Canada to provide scholarships for Africa's young men.

West Parish...

Through the efforts of members of the West Parish Playground committee, funds have been raised to purchase swings and a horizontal bar as well as several sand-boxes. These will soon be erected and available for the use of the children. The playground is adjacent to the West Center school and will be under supervision during the summer months. . . Mr. and Mrs. Earl Slate of Argilla road attended the wedding of the latter's niece, Miss Claire Evans, which took place on Saturday in the Episcopal church of West Roxbury. . . Raymond Parieau of St. Petersburg, Florida, is visiting his cousin, Ronald Parieau of Chandler road.

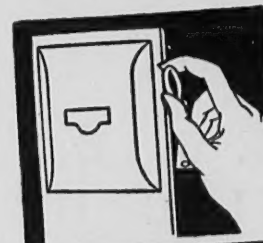

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thomes have returned to their home in Charlotte, N. C., after visiting for the past few weeks with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomes of Bailey road. . . Mrs. Gladys Batcheller of Lowell street is spending several weeks with friends at Rockport, Mass. . . Lawrence Stevens of Durham, N. H., has returned to his home after visiting his cousin, Shirley Stevens of High Plain road. . . Warren Lewis has returned to his studies at Harvard college after enjoying a two weeks' vacation at his home. . . Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thomes of Bailey road have returned from Skowhegan, Maine, where they attended the New England Power convention recently held there. . . Friends of Mrs. William Trow will be pleased to know that she is making good progress at the Lawrence General hospital, where she is a surgical patient. . . Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doyle and family of Chandler road spent the weekend with friends at Old Orchard Beach, Maine. . . Rev. Newman Matthews of High Plain road was in charge of the services at the Baptist church in Plaistow, N. H., on Sunday morning.

IT ONLY TAKES A MINUTE TO CHANGE A FUSE...

PULL OFF THE MAIN SWITCH

A main switch is one which disconnects all service to your home. Not all services have main switches. If you have one, open it before attempting to change fuses.

REMOVE "BLOWN" PLUG FUSE

Turn blown fuse in counter-clockwise direction with fingertips, as you would a lamp bulb, to unscrew and remove it.

REPLACE WITH CORRECT SIZE FUSE

Size or amperage of a plug fuse is marked on base. Branch circuits usually require 15 ampere and main and range circuits 30 to 50 ampere fuses. For efficiency and safety use correct sizes.
